IOP Publishing

Why should your authors and readers choose IOP?

IOP Publishing, a not-for-profit company wholly owned by the Institute of Physics, is one of the largest and most dynamic publishers of physics information in the world. IOP's publishing activity, which dates back to 1874, includes a wide range of journals, magazines and community websites which are certainly of interest to the researchers, professors, students and librarians at your institution.

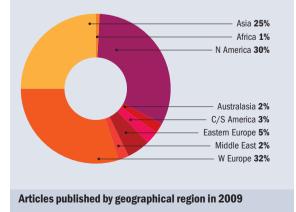

IOP has expanded its journal catalogue and in the last 10 years it has doubled the number of journals it publishes. In 1999, IOP's catalogue contained 33 journals; today it publishes more than 60 journals, in partnership with many of the world's leading research establishments.

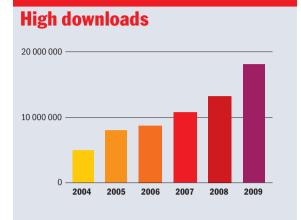

Further growth in readership and impact reflects the quality and visibility of IOP journals and shows that we are well placed to meet the needs of your institution.

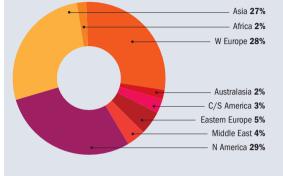

Number of articles published

More than 18 million full-text downloads in 2009

Global visibility

Full-text downloads by geographical region in 2009 Read by more than 4000 institutions in over 180 countries

Increasing impact

published by IOP, less historic data for journals perviously published by a different publisher fall into 8 physics subject categories in the 2009 Journal Citation Report*

- 25 of the titles published by IOP have seen an increase in citations from 2008
- 17 titles have had an increase of over 10%
- More than 40% of titles have Impact Factors above 2.000

Some of the best-performing titles in 2009* were:

- Environmental Research Letters increased by 94% to achieve 3.342
- Superconductor Science and Technology increased by 46% to achieve 2.694
- Nuclear Fusion increased by 56% to achieve 4.270
- Journal of Neural Engineering increased by 37% to achieve 3.739
